

Editorial

WE started publishing eJIR in 2016. Entering the third year, we proudly present to you the new Vol. 3.1 of 2018. This first edition of the year 2018 contains a dozen or more research and academic papers covering various interdisciplinary domains. It is very encouraging to note that we continue to receive papers from various countries ranging from India to USA. Few research papers included in this new edition of eJIR are driven by extensive data analytics; others are based on various scientific and social issues. This year we also received few papers from our own graduate students studying at Assumption University.

Each paper is provided with an Abstract, a downloadable Microsoft Word and an Adobe PDF file. To open and read your paper you must have Microsoft Office 2007 or an updated version of MS Office and Adobe Acrobat Reader. You can download a free version of PDF reader from Adobe Website.

I must also remind our contributors and readers that we do not charge any fee for publishing in our journal. But we do select limited number of papers based on peer review and overall quality.

I am very indebted to Rev. Brother Bancha Saenghiran, PhD, President, Assumption University for his faith in GSeL to continue publishing AU- Journal of Interdisciplinary Research (AU-eJIR). I am also thankful to Dr. Chanintorn Jittawiriya Nukoon, our Dean, for his unflinching support. I am sure that the next edition of eJIR which will be published in July 2018 will have many more interesting papers from around the world.

Please download the new guideline for submitting your paper for the next edition of eJIR. The due date for submitting your papers for (Vol. 3.2) is June 30, 2018. It will be published on line on July 2, 2018.

In the end, let me thank all the authors for their efforts and contributions to eJIR.

Kuldeep Nagi, PhD
Fulbright Fellow (USA)
Assistant Professor
Managing Editor- eJIR

January 8, 2018

Happy New Year 2018